

Seaton House School Newsletter

For the week ending: Friday 25th November, 2016

Dear Parents

The past few days have been oddly quiet without the Form IV girls! From what I have heard, I believe that they have been developing their skills of adventure, resilience and team work. So many of the gains that they experience on these residential trips cannot be measured in obvious terms but the benefits are huge. Their social and personal development is given such a boost as they learn to rub along together and put up with the little foibles of their friends (just as we all have to do in real life!). With the Christmas Bazaar tomorrow, I am guessing some of us will be sleeping very well on Saturday night! I look forward to seeing many of you tomorrow.
